

SHOPRITE CHECKERS WOMEN OF THE YEAR AWARDS 2010

Jackie Gallagher, founder and General Manager of the Sparrow Schools Educational Trust, was honoured on Saturday 24 July at a gala event at Emperors Palace by being voted the Shoprite Checkers Woman of the Year 2010 in the Educators category.

Five exceptional, visionary women were selected as the 2010 Shoprite Checkers Women of the Year at the glitzy event. The five categories were

Health Care-Giver, Cornershop to Big Business Maker, Educator, Good Neighbour and Youth Mover.

Over the years the Award has identified and paid tribute to the country's unsung heroes, and presented them as role models to the rest of South Africa. The Award also brought into focus the many issues that women grapple with, issues that often make life a daily struggle. The Award has paid tribute to the most exceptional and achieving women in the country who had not only achieved success in their own respective fields but who had made a tangible difference in communities and society as a whole.

Congratulations to Jackie and the team at Sparrow Schools for this prestigious achievement!